

Witness: Basically because we have nothing in our file, nothing that looks any good for him so we, it wasn't just me, it was Stacy Simmons and Tim Simmons, too.

RJL: Who's Stacy and Tim Simmons?

Witness: Stacy and Tim are, like, and this is the, you know, they're the crew. They're the construction crew, just the two of them.

RJL: Is it two men?

Witness: Two men. And, you know, we were all pretty much friends and stuff and he, Stacy'd say like "Yeah, we were, hey we saw Biggs parked in front of our house" and then it'd be like "Oh, we saw Biggs parked in..." And I think RJL: Everybody's making up things?

Witness: Yeah, and I'm thinking it's funny because I'm, like, I'm not even home to see if they're parked in front of my house because at the time I was working there during the day and at night I was working at the Cascade Inn in Canton and I was like, my kids are home, the babysitter's there. I don't know if they were parked there or not and it started getting really freaky because, I swear to God, this is awful but there was broken glass in the driveway of my apartment.

RJL: Your apartment?

Witness: My apartment building.

RJL: Where did you live then?

Witness: School Street.

RJL: Ok

Witness: Oh, the Biggs must have done it and it was like, I swear to God Jim, your car was there at 10 o'clock. You know, I saw it.
