

see us all driving in, you know, in the morning and out at night and it was a couple of turkeys that passed the thing. But he was paranoid that they were gonna burn his house down or something. I was like, what! And it was basically more for the effect to tell the Sheriff because he wanted a restraining order.

RJL: He was just making it up, really.

Witness: So then we built this big old sign that said "No Trespassing, Private Drive, blah, blah, blah. Violators will be prosecuted" That was one day's work for me was making this sign, you know. Charge it to the Biggs account cause my labor went to the Biggs account and it still is.

RJL: You mean, all of the time you've spent there went to the Biggs account.

Witness: On the Biggs account is being added to their bill.

RJL: What did he ask you, what's this green truck? In other words,...

Witness: The green van.

RJL: The green van. What's the story on that?

Witness: Ok, apparently Biggs had a green van.

RJL: Meaning the Biggs?

Witness: Yeah, and well he had taken a picture during the ice storm or something and your van was in the driveway. Well, he took a magnifying glass out and got the license plate number of the van. Not only that....

RJL: From the photograph?

Witness: Right, then he goes to my house and takes pictures of my neighbors green van that's the exact same thing and says 'they've been parked outside your apartment building. This is the license plate number'
